

BLUEJAY BUZZ

ELEMENTARY EDITION

Thank you to all who came out for parent/teacher conferences this week! Our students are successful because of the hard work our teachers AND parents and guardians pour into them. And now, we hope you all enjoy a long weekend. See what else is new this week, and as always, let us know if you have any questions.

Veterans Day Photo Gallery

A big "thank you" goes out to all of you who helped or attended our Veterans Day program on Monday. It was a great time of honoring our veterans, and we're so proud of the roles our students played in the program. The singing was fantastic! If you weren't able to attend, be sure to click here to see a photo gallery from all of our district programs.

Ornaments Head to State Capitol

We've got some state-bound ornaments! Each year, the governor selects a theme for the state Christmas tree, which is displayed in the Capitol Rotunda. This year, Gov. Evers declared the theme was "Celebrate Science," so these students made themed ornaments that will be headed to Madison. If you're there this holiday season, see if you can spot them!

Classroom Christmas Gift Option

Are you thinking about Christmas shopping already? If you'd like some ideas for the school, the PTO has organized a classroom wish list. The classroom stockings are hung on the wall opposite the elementary office. Simply pick up a tag and bring in a gift for the classroom in lieu of a teacher present. Thanks for organizing this, PTO!
