SUGAR CAMP ELEMENTARY NEWS

Fall is certainly in the air now that the leaves are turning and the temperature has plunged. A reminder that school fundraiser forms are due back in the school on Oct. 7. Take a look below to see what else is new this week, and as always, let us know if you have any questions.

Author Alane Adams Visits

Children's author Alane Adams visited Sugar Camp Elementary today, talking to students about imagination, storytelling, point of view and more. She was originally scheduled to visit in April, but had to cancel due to a snow storm. Adams, who is from sunny California, is the author of The Legends of Orkney series as well as several children's books. Click here for the photo gallery!

6th Grade Starts STEAM Project

Did you know we have three 3D printers at Sugar Camp? Our sixth graders will soon be using them to print balloon racing vehicles, which they've designed in TinkerCad. The project includes elements of science, technology, engineering, art and math, which is known as STEAM. We can't wait to see the final results of the race!

Welcome to SCE, Ms. Sowinski!

There's a new face in the building this fall! Ms. Maddie Sowinski, who is a senior at UW-Stevens Point, will be in the fifth grade classroom observing Ms. Spears and her students. Ms. Sowinski is studying speech and language pathology, and she will be in the classroom till November. So if you see her, say "hello!"

Harvesting Pumpkins in 5th Grade

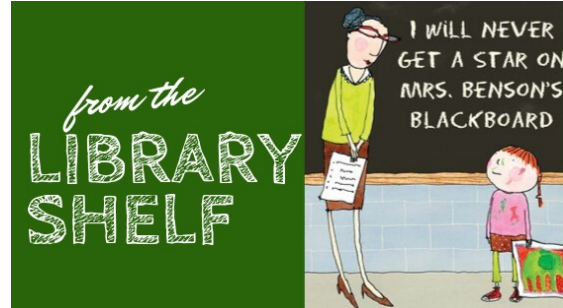

The 5th graders are almost done harvesting mini-pumpkins, jack-o-lanterns and gourds from the school garden. The harvest was small this year, so there will not be a school sale of pumpkins. However, we will use what we have throughout the school. The next pumpkin-related project in 5th grade is a writing assignment that includes a pumpkin as a main character!

From the Library Shelf

Do you ever feel like you just can't do anything right? It's a frustrating feeling! In I Will Never Get a Star on Mrs. Benson's Blackboard, a little girl named Rose feels like she just can't win. She makes messes, forgets math facts and spills her lunch. It isn't until her teacher notices what she excels in that she begins to feel successful. Will she get a star? Read to find out.
