SUGAR CAMP ELEMENTARY NEWS

Well, October and Halloween are a wrap. Have you had enough sugar at your house? As we head into November, we have several holidays around the corner plus our first round of parent/teacher conferences, so be sure to add those to your calendars. Take a look below to see what else is new this week, and as always, let us know if you have any questions.

A Spooky Cafeteria Crew

You have to have a little fun on Halloween, right? The lunch ladies made sure there was a bit of spookiness in the cafeteria on Halloween as they dished out mummified hot dogs, ghost string cheese, and green monster grapes to our students. They also dressed in costume. Thanks for making our lunches so healthy and FUN here at Sugar Camp!

Patriotic Art for Veterans Day

Ms. Wallschlaeger's classes are busy preparing for Veterans Day. The students have been making patriotic-themed creations, which will hang in the gym and around the school during the Veterans Day assembly on Nov. 11. A reminder that the public - and especially our veterans - are invited to attend the assembly at 1 pm in the small gym.

Red Ribbon Week Wraps Up

It was a week of fun dress-up days and activities, all centered around the idea that "We've got better things to do than drugs." In this photo, students took part in potato-sack races during the sports-themed day. Today, to wrap up the week, students are watching a movie in the afternoon while wearing their PJs for pajama day.

From the Library Shelf

A couple of weeks ago, Sugar Camp native

Josephine Cameron visited students in grades 3-6 to discuss her writing process. The library just received a copy of her book Maybe a Mermaid, and we know there are some fans out there who might be interested! Check out this story about friendship and family all taking place in a setting influenced by the Northwoods.

Basketball Team Store Open!

Ready for basketball season? Now is the time to buy your team apparel AND to think ahead to those Christmas presents. The girls and boys basketball team store through Graphic Edge closes on Nov. 12, so get those orders in now! Click here to visit the store.

Community Classes at Fab Lab

Have you wanted to get in Fab Lab Three Lakes but weren't sure how to start? Now's your chance to dive in and learn about the software and equipment used in the lab.
